

IN MEMORIAM

DR. CARL SCHULTZ

(Died May 5th, 1935)

A Tribute By Dr. Henry Gross

Dr. Schultz came to Los Angeles the early part of nineteen hundred from Asheville, North Carolina, and since then I had been in continual association with him, and found him not only an indefatigable scholar, a thorough teacher to further Naturopathy, his School and Sanitarium and a large private practice. As a member of the Los Angeles Bar Ass'n. he continued his studies and practice of law as an attorney until he passed his examination to practice in the Supreme Court of the United States of America.

It was under the direction of Dr. Carl Schultz we organized the Naturopathic Ass'n. of California in 1904, through which we were able to defend ourselves as well as demand recognition of our legal rights in the midst of the struggle which we set forth. We presented a Naturopathic Bill at the California Legislature in the Fall of 1907, which at that time passed both Houses, Congress and Senate, unanimously. However, the Honorable Governor, Dr. Pardee, formerly and eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, vetoed the bill.

Dr. Schultz then counselled with our attorneys. Together they worked out a proposition that, as the California Congress and Senate had voted unanimously for the passage of the Naturopathic bill, we were entitled to continue to practice until another Legislative body was elected for the next Legislature in 1909, at which time a new Naturopathic bill be prepared for presentation.

We were further advised that all members of the Naturopathic Ass'n. of California register their diplomas with the County Clerk, which was done. This act entitled us to continue to practice unmolested until the Fall of 1909, when the Naturopathic measure was again presented in the Legislature.

It was here that Dr. Carl Schultz showed his fighting spirit and extraordinary skill, as he sojourned to Sacramento to champion our cause. During thirteen long weeks he resided in Sacramento, sacrificing not alone his practice, but spending his time and money to draw up at least twelve different bills with a continuous fight for his rights, when it finally looked as if the passing of a bill would be impossible.

The opposition finally agreed to insert the Naturopathic Act as a part of the Medical bill, which was done, and Naturopathy was thereby recognized as a Philosophy, a Science and an Art, ready to be legalized. This joint bill passed both Houses unanimously, and the Honorable Governor Gillette signed this bill on March 19, 1909. With this, our battle was won, and all who were members of the Naturopathic Ass'n. of California have enjoyed legal recognition ever since, and will do so to the end of their natural lives, if their practice is carried out within the confines of the law.

This was the accomplishment of my good friend, Dr. Carl Schultz, assisted by his noble wife, Dr. Ellen Schultz, Dr. Peter Olsen, W. R. Haney and Dr. Henry Gross, the then directors, and Naturopathic State Board of Examiners of the Naturopathic Ass'n. of California.

His continuous effort was to spread the gospel of Naturopathy, to instruct and protect the people of California in the way of natural living and healing, also that they may choose their own doctor, as we have a right to choose our own minister, further to be born right, as natural as possible, to live right, and eventually to die right. With this accomplishment, my friend had justly earned the title of "Father of Naturopathy" in California, for his effort in teaching and directing the organization, and continuously giving legal assistance to our members in all local courts and through the legislative campaigns in 1907 and 1909, all of which has been appreciated and will always be remembered by the people of California and the members of the Naturopathic Association of California.

This, my friends, was the height of our good friend's ambition, which he carried out to the end, and now as we gaze on him we realize that life is like a school. We are born and as the breath of life (Spirit) entered the little body, and the Spirit and the body became united, which constitutes a living Soul, or Spirit, Soul, Mind and Body.

As I look upon his body lying in state before me and realize its lifeless form, knowing it has been built out of earth, and it is written in Holy Writ that it shall be returned to the earth.

The Spirit (life) who came from Heaven and had entered the little baby body created by his earthly parents, became a living Soul. All this was expressed in the Life-intelligent-babe which grew up from birth through infancy, continuously governed by intelligence, then united with emotion (love) to the age of puberty, at which time the entire body changes and the male child becomes more masculine and the female child more feminine, as their brain increases one-third in size and expression until the completion of the physical body to maturity, which is the age of twenty-one years.

The statutes of all countries recognize twenty-one years as the time of maturity, and guardians are no longer necessary. The mature person becomes a citizen with the right to vote. Then we go on in life, marry, build a business, etc., all of which our good friend accomplished, thereby he fulfilled every natural law. Finally the time comes in which the ebb goes low, the light begins to flicker, and with the last breath, the light and life (spirit) returns to Heaven to dwell there while the body enters into its resting place through interment, which is to follow, where the body will be laid to rest, to remain in Love and Peace until the Resurrection Morn.

DIAGNOSING A CASE OF GASTRIC GUMMA

112 pounds. Ankylosis of fifth to tenth dorsal vertebrae with pronounced corresponding kyphosis; stooping posture, walks with feet wide apart. Chest small and sunken. Heart normal in sound and rhythm. Lungs negative to percussion and auscultation. Sinuses negative to percussion and transillumination. Teeth normal, gums receding. Tonsils normal to appearance and to explorative vacuum drainage. Abdominal palpation intensifies tenderness on epigastrium and slightly on right iliac fossa, no sudden retraction pain on McBurney's point. The central area of the right iliac fossa exhibits a moderately bulging cordy appearance ropy to touch.

Rectal digital examination, in Sim's position, reveals a few small bleeding internal hemorrhoids, rectal walls elastic and no palpable tumor in the lower pelvic cavity, prostate slightly enlarged and of relatively soft texture.

Optic examination of excreta shows the presence of a moderate amount of
